Forecast for Wednesday 14 Jul 2021

Weather: Once any mist and fog patches clear from valleys it will be a sunny start for all. More cloud around in the afternoon with a low risk of a light shower, though long lived sunny spells with very high UV levels will continue. Dry and bright into the evening, though skies will become cloudier throughout the night.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 100% becoming 70% for a time through the morning and 100% by lunchtime.

Visibility: Generally excellent, though poor in any mist or fog patches in valleys first thing and in any patchy cloud around dawn at 200m. Cloud will develop at around 800m mid-morning though will lift above all summits by lunchtime. Perhaps deteriorating temporarily in any showers in the afternoon.

Meteorologist's View

With very high UV levels, even during cloudier periods, it will feel warm so water and sun protection are highly advised.
